GERMANS SLOWLY WITHDRAWING TO PRUSSIAN BORDER

Are Gradually Being Hammered Back by Russian Forces.

TURKS ARE NOT DISCOURAGED

Believe the Dardanelles Cannot be Penetrated and Hope King Constantine Will Hold Greeks in Leash; Undesired Holders Denied Privileges.

By Associated Press. LONDON, March 9.—Obstinate fighting marks the battle along the eastern front on the continent, with the Germans slowly withdrawing from the river Niemen in the direction of their own East Prussian frontier.

At the same time the new offensive movement against Warsaw and on the Polish front has not as yet developed into the great engagement which has been expected in this locality.

In the western arena of hostilities the only new feature lately has been the allied air attack on Ostend. In the Champagne region, where the French have been assuming the offensive lately, a snowstorm has given a forced rest to the troops. It is not unwise to say they have been almost constantly engaged for the past fortnight.

Judging from the statements made yesterday by the British admiralty it is apparent that only one merchantman, the Collier Langrove, has fallen victim to the submarine blockade of the Germans since the 25th of February. The first hint of British retaliation against the personnel of the German submarine raiders has been conveyed in an official statement that the officers and crew of the German merchant ship U-5 which fell a prey to the death of torpedo boat destroyers detailed to hunt for submarines will be denied the usual privileges of prisoners of war.

Press comment appearing in Berlin indicated a feeling of optimism over the German undersea boat U-5 which fell a prey to the death of torpedo boat destroyers detailed to hunt for submarines will be denied the usual privileges of prisoners of war.

GIRLS! HAVE BEAUTIFUL, CHARMING HAIR AND NO DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Try this! Doubles Beauty of Your Hair and Stops It Itching Out.

Your hair becomes thick, wavy, soft, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and itching hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and flowing at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it. —Adv.

VICTIMS OF RHEUMATISM

A. A. Clarke's No-Cure-No-Pay Offer
Attracts Many Sufferers to West Richmond.

If Rheumatism, the wonderful prescription for rheumatism sold by A. A. Clarke and his associates, does not cure any purchaser, the druggist will return your money without any conditions.

Rheumatism is a dangerous disease because of its shifting nature. It often strikes the heart and proves fatal. Any one with even a faint of rheumatism ought to drive it out as soon as possible.

Rheumatism is caused by sluggish movement of the blood, which becomes clogged and fails to eliminate the impurities from the system.

Rheumatism is promptly and directly upon the kidneys; it cleanses them, it absolutely renovates and leaves them in perfect condition, able to do the work nature intended they should do. 50 cents a bottle.—Adv.

MISTAKEN DIAGNOSIS; DOCTORS GUESS WRONG AGAIN

About five years ago I wrote to you that I had been a terrible sufferer from kidney and bladder troubles, and that my physician informed me that my left kidney was in such condition that there was no hope for my recovery. I was advised to try your Swamp-Root as a last resort, and after taking four fifty-cent bottles I passed a gravel stone which weighed ten grains. I afterwards forwarded you this gravel stone. Have had no return of any trouble since that time, and cannot say too much in favor of your wonderful preparation, Swamp-Root, which cures, after physicians fail.

Very truly yours,

CHAPTER IX.
I Discuss Matrimony.

At 12 the next day I climbed the tortuous stairs leading to the countess' apartments. She opened the door herself.

"I neglected to mention yesterday that I am expecting a houseful of guests in a day or two," I said after she had given me a very cordial greeting.

"Guests?" she cried in dismay. "Oh, dear; can't you put them off?"

"I have hopes that they won't be able to stand the workmen bungling around all day," I confessed, somewhat guiltily.

"Women in the party?"

"Two I believe. Both married and qualified to express opinions."

"They will be sure to nose me out," she said ruefully. "Women are dreadful users."

"Don't worry," I said. "We'll get a lot of new padlocks for the doors downstairs, and you'll be as safe as can be if you'll only keep quiet."

"But I don't see why I should be made to mope here all day and all night like a sick cat, holding my head over Rosemary's mouth when she wants to cry and muzzling poor Jinko so that he—"

"My dear countess," I interrupted sternly, "you should not forget that these other guests of mine are invited here."

"But I was here first," she argued. "It is most annoying."

"I believe you said yesterday that you are in the habit of having your own way," she nodded her head.

"Well, I am afraid you'll have to come down from your high horse—at least temporarily."

"Oh, I see! You—you mean to be very firm and domineering with me?"

"You must try to see things from my point of view."

"Please don't say that!" she flared. "I'm so tired of hearing those words. For the last three years I've been commanded to see things from some one else's point of view, and I'm sick of the expression."

"Or however you don't put me in the same boat with your husband?"

"She regarded me somewhat frightfully for a moment longer, and then a slow, witching smile crept into her eyes."

"I shan't," she promised and laughed outright. "Do forgive me, Mr. Smart. I'll try to be nice and sensible, and I will be as still as a mouse all the time they're here. But you must promise to come up every day and give me the gossip."

"We fell into a discussion of present and future needs of ways and means for looking up friends utterly in the day's morning, her presence in the abandoned east wing."

"I've been trying to recall all of the notable marriages we had in New York three years ago," said I, after she had most graciously reduced me to a state of submission in the matter of three or four most questions that came up for settlement. "You don't seem to fit in with any of the international affairs I can bring to mind."

"You promised you wouldn't bother about that, Mr. Smart," she said severely.

"Of course you were married in New York?"

"In a very nice church just off Fifth Avenue, if that will help you any," she said. "The usual crowd inside the church and the usual mob outside all fighting for a glimpse of me in my wedding dress and for a chance to see a real Hungarian nobleman. It really was a very magnificent wedding, Mr. Smart."

"She seemed to be truly proud of the spectacular sacrifice."

"A knitted brow revealed the unfortunate condition of my brain. I was thinking very intently, not to say remotely."

"Don't you read the newspapers?" she cried impatiently. "She actually resented by ignorance."

"Religiously," I said, stung to revolt. "But I make it a point never to read the criminal news."

"Criminal news?" she gasped. "What do you mean?"

"It is merely my way of saying that I put marriages of that character in the category of crime."

"Oh!" she cried, staring at me with unbelieve eyes.

"Every time a sweet, lovely American girl is deluded into the hands of a foreigner who happens to possess a title that needs living, I call the transaction a crime. You did not live this posthumous count, nor did he care a hank for you. You were too young in the ways of the world to have any feeling for him, and he was too old to have any for you. The whole hateful business therefore resolved itself into a case of give and take—and he took everything. He took you and your father's millions and now you are both back where you began. Some one deliberately committed a crime, and as it wasn't you or the count—who loved his legitimacy till it must have been the person who planned the consum-

ney. I take it, of course, that the whole affair was arranged behind your back, so to speak."

"Her face was quite pale. Her eyes did not leave mine during the long and crazy diatribe, of which I was already beginning to feel heartily ashamed, and there was a dark, ominous fire in them that should have warned me."

"She arose from her chair. It seemed to me she was taller than before."

"If nothing else came to me out of this transaction," she said levelly, "at least a certain amount of dignity was regained. I remember that I am no longer the unsophisticated girl you so graciously describe. I am a woman, Mr. Smart."

"True," said I, somewhat dogged, "a woman with the power to think for herself. That is my point. If the same situation arose at your present age I fancy you'd be able to select a husband without assistance, and I venture to say you wouldn't pick up the first dissolute nobleman that came your way."

"No, my dear countess, you were not to blame. You thought, as your parents did, that marriage with a count would make a real countess of you. What rot! You are a simple, lovable American girl, and that's all there ever can be to it. To the end of your days you will be an American."

"We were both standing now. She was still measuring me with somewhat incredulous eyes, rather more tolerant than resentful."

"Do you expect me to agree with you, Mr. Smart?" she asked.

"I do," said I promptly. "You of all people should be able to testify that my words are absolutely right."

"They are right," she said simply. "Still you are pretty much of a brute to insult me with them."

"I most sincerely crave your pardon if it isn't too late!" I cried, abject once more. (I don't know what gets into me once in a while.)

"Please, please don't say anything more about it. I deserve your dose now a lot of good. Perhaps I shall see things a little more clearly. To be perfectly honest with you, I went into this marriage with my eyes wide open, but I was only one fool among many. Dozens of other girls in my set were crazy to marry him. I haven't told you that he is extremely good looking and he was—was adorable in those days."

"Stranger things have happened than that you should patch up your diatribe and go back to live with your husband."

"She uttered a little cry of revelation. 'How dare you suggest such a thing! How dare you speak to me in that way! You—I ought to order you out of this room and never—never—'"

"My luminous smile checked the outburst."

"'Splendid!' I cried. 'You convince me that it can never happen.'"

"You spoke of him as my husband," she said, going back to my remark. "He is not my husband. Please be good enough to remember that!"

"It will be easy, I assure you. May I therefore venture the hope that if you ever decide to marry again you'll give some deserving American a chance to make you his queen?"

"I shall never marry, Mr. Smart," she said with decision. "Never, never again will I get into a mess that is so hard to get out of. I can say this to you because I've heard you are a bachelor. You can't take offense."

"I fondly hope to die a bachelor," said I with humility.

"God bless you!" she cried, bursting into a merry laugh, and I knew that a truce had been declared for the time being at least. "And now let us talk sense. Have you carefully considered the consequences if you are found out, Mr. Smart?"

French Remedy Aids Stomach Sufferers

France has been called the nation without stomach troubles. The French have for generations used a simple mixture of vegetable oils that relieve stomach and intestinal ailments and keep the bowels free from foul, poisonous matter.

The stomach is left to perform its functions normally. Indigestion and gastritis vanish.

Mr. Geo. H. Mavr, a leading druggist of Chicago, cured himself with this remedy in a short time. The demand is so great that he imports these oils from France and compounds them under the name of Mavr's Wonderful Remedy.

People everywhere write and testify to the marvelous relief they have received using this remedy—one dose will rid the body of poisonous secretions that have accumulated for years and convince the most chronic sufferer from stomach, liver or intestinal troubles.

Mavr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

DANDRUFF SOON RUINS THE HAIR

Makes It Lifeless, Dull, Dry, Brittle and Thin.

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will start your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, lustrous, soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

"GETS-IT" a Sure-Shot for All Corns

Use Two Drops—and They Vanish.

When corns make you almost die with your boots on, when you try to walk on the edge of your shoes to try to get away from your corns, you're way behind time if you have not used "GETS-IT". It's the corn cure of the century, the new way, the pure, painless, simple way. It makes a fellow really feel foolish after he's used toe-binding, bandages, blood-bringing, razor, files, scissors, jabbers, wart or bunions.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25¢ a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Connellsville and is recommended the world over by A. A. Clarke, Graham A.C.O., Fred H. Hartman, J. C. More—Adv.

Hayes of 311 Westgate avenue, Hagerstown, Md., in a public statement.

"Since taking treatment from the Inter-State Doctors who have their Connellsville Medical Institute on the second floor of the Citizens National Bank Building, corner of Pittsburg and Apple streets, I most truthfully say that with the aid of their electrical treatment the abscesses have entirely disappeared and my general condition is so much improved that I can not say too much in praise of these specialists. I have obtained these excellent results with only three weeks' treatment."

The Inter-State Doctors treat among other ailments the chronic or deep-seated diseases of the nervous, blood, heart, liver, stomach, kidneys, bladder, brain, spine, including rheumatism, sciatica, paralysis, epilepsy, colitis, indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, catarrh, deafness, asthma, neuralgia, sciatica, neuritis, sciatica and other diseases of women and of men. CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

Only Way to Cure this Disease is to Destroy its Cause.

By a Specialist.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh. Catarrh is caused by inflammation, sprays, douches, speculums, etc., because they overlook this fact. They all help by giving temporary relief but they do not reach the germ life that has found lodgment in your body, nose, throat, and could not destroy it if they did.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself, is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat, the pleasant, odorless, liquid, Hymol (pronounced High-mol). Hymol is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful, healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little pocket inhaler which A. A. Clarke and other leading druggists in Connellsville and vicinity are furnishing with every complete treatment sold. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hymol through this little device you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ-laden membranes, a medicated air which will not only reduce all the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages, but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of catarrh germ life it reaches.

Druggists are so sure of the blessed, lasting relief that Hymol brings to catarrh sufferers, that they sell invariably on the positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use. Get a Hymol outfit from your druggist today and begin at once to drive this dangerous and disgusting disease from your system forever.—Adv.

The revival meeting in the Methodist Episcopal Church is getting more interesting each evening. The most-keen have been going on for the past two weeks and now have a total of 46 converts. Large crowds are always in attendance.

P. E. Burdette left Saturday evening and will spend a week's vacation in Pittsburg and New York.

Miss Anna Williams, Nova Totten and Violet Mason of Kentucky, were callers here Saturday.

THE MAN WHO ONLY TOOK A DRINK NOW AND THEN

He was a compositor employed on a daily newspaper. He admitted that he drank, but always added, "Only one or two, now and then." He was considered the "star" man of the place and drank got the best of him by gradually undermining his nervous system. During a political campaign, when everyone on the "sheet" was worked to the limit, he took a drink more frequently.

For a while the liquor seemed to lend him renewed vigor, but each time his "shoot" faded and by the time the campaign was over, he was no good to others or to himself. Alcohol might have claimed another victim had not the editor taken an interest in the case.

He was immediately sent to the Keeley Institute for treatment. Today he again has his position on the newspaper and is still the "star" man. If you are interested and wish information, address The Keeley Institute, 4250 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. Established 34 years. (Adv.)

Self-Reliant Home Doctors.
Is what women are called who all over this broad land make their annual collections of roots and herbs, and rely upon recipes which suppose mothers found dependable for different family ailments. In one of these receipts, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had its origin and so successful has it proved that there is hardly a city, town or hamlet in America where some woman who has been restored to health by its use does not reside.—Adv.
